The diagram illustrates a quantum circuit. It starts with an input state $|\psi\rangle$. This state passes through a Hadamard gate (H). The output of the H gate then enters a rotation gate $R_y(\theta)$. Following this rotation, a CNOT gate is applied, with the first qubit as the control and the second qubit as the target. The output of the CNOT gate then enters another rotation gate $R_y(\theta)$. The final output state is labeled $|\phi\rangle$.

Pakistan mosque bombing kills 50

By The Associated Press, Islamabad, Pakistan, and New York

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — A powerful explosion killed 50 people and wounded more than 100 others in a crowded mosque in Islamabad, Pakistan, Saturday. The blast occurred during morning prayers at the Feroz Khan Noon Islamic Center, a large mosque in the heart of the capital. The explosion, which occurred at about 10:30 a.m., was heard throughout the city. The cause of the explosion is still unknown, but some officials suspect it may have been a suicide bombing. The mosque was packed with worshippers, and the blast caused significant damage to the building. Rescue workers are still searching for survivors among the rubble. The death toll is expected to rise as more bodies are recovered.

Bush won't discuss CIA videotapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President George W. Bush won't discuss the CIA videotapes of the interrogation of a suspected al Qaeda operative, a White House spokesman said Saturday. The tapes, which were obtained by the British government, show the interrogation of a man identified as Khalid Sheikh Mohammed. The tapes were released to the public by the British government, but the White House has refused to comment on them. The spokesman said that the president is focused on the war on terrorism and will not be distracted by the details of the interrogation. He added that the tapes are part of a larger investigation into the 9/11 attacks.

By Deborah L. Siskin

FIND A WAY TO ENJOY THE HOLIDAY SEASON WITHOUT OVEREATING AND OVERDRINKING. IT'S A CHALLENGE, BUT IT'S WORTH IT.

For many people, the holiday season is a time of indulgence. It's a time to eat, drink and be merry. But for some, it's a time of guilt and regret. They've eaten too much, drunk too much, and now they're feeling the effects.

The Cheaper Medicine Bill the House's Christmas gift

By Steven E. Fisman, MD

Medical Fails  The House of Representatives has passed a bill that would reduce the cost of prescription drugs. It's a popular move, but it's also a risky one. The bill could have serious consequences for patients who rely on these drugs.

The bill, known as the Cheaper Medicine Bill, would allow the federal government to negotiate the price of certain prescription drugs. This would save money for the government, but it could also lead to higher prices for other drugs.

There are several problems with the bill. First, it only covers a small number of drugs. Second, it doesn't guarantee that prices will be lowered. And third, it could lead to higher prices for other drugs.

Patients who rely on these drugs need to be protected. They need to know that their drugs will be available at a reasonable price. The bill doesn't guarantee this, and that's a problem.

The House's Christmas gift to patients is a risky one. It could lead to higher prices for other drugs, and it could also lead to the loss of some drugs. Patients need to be protected, and the bill doesn't do that.

Doctors' responsibilities

Doctors have a responsibility to their patients. They need to provide the best care possible, and they need to be honest about the risks and benefits of treatment.

Doctors also have a responsibility to society. They need to provide care to all patients, regardless of their ability to pay. This is a challenge, but it's one that doctors must meet.

Doctors' responsibilities are complex and often conflicting. They need to balance the needs of their patients with the needs of society. This is a difficult task, but it's one that doctors must undertake.

2008 PROPERTY FORECAST

'Positive growth from OIWs, but be wary

By Tom I. Spence

The 2008 property forecast is a mixed bag. While the overall market is expected to be flat, there are some bright spots. The most significant is the expected growth in the office-investor market, which is driven by the need for new office space in the financial district. This growth is expected to be offset by a decline in the residential market, which is expected to be flat. The overall market is expected to be flat, with a slight increase in the office-investor market and a slight decrease in the residential market.

The diagram illustrates the experimental setup for measuring the time delay of a light pulse. A laser beam (L) is directed through a lens (L1) and a mirror (M1) onto a sample (S). The sample is positioned on a stage (ST) that can move vertically, as indicated by the double-headed arrow. The light reflected from the sample passes through another lens (L2) and a mirror (M2) before reaching a detector (D). The detector is connected to a computer (C) for data processing. The entire setup is contained within a box labeled 'EXPERIMENTAL SETUP'.

Figure 1 is a 3D bar chart titled 'Percentage' showing the distribution of the total sample across different age groups and sexes. The Y-axis represents the percentage from 0 to 100. The X-axis represents age groups: 10-19, 20-29, 30-39, 40-49, 50-59, 60-69, 70-79, 80-89, and 90-99. The Z-axis represents sex: Male and Female. The chart shows that the percentage of the total sample decreases as age increases, with the highest percentages in the 10-19 age group for both sexes. The percentage for males is generally slightly higher than for females in most age groups.

| Age Group | Male (%) | Female (%) |
|-----------|----------|------------|
| 10-19 | ~85 | ~75 |
| 20-29 | ~65 | ~55 |
| 30-39 | ~45 | ~35 |
